DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In view of the appeal brief filed on September 3, 2002, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. New grounds of rejection are set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

Applicants require the claimed reinforcing members to be in "a tire zone including at least each of the sidewall portions", however because there is no definition by applicants in the original disclosure of the boundary between the "sidewall portions" and the adjacent "bead portions" and "tread portion" one of ordinary skill in the art would not know how to provide the claimed reinforcing members in "a tire zone including at least each of the sidewall portions".

3. Claims 1-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. See paragraph 3 above concerning the lack of a description of the boundary between the "sidewall portions" and the adjacent "bead portions" and "tread portion".

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-9 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

See paragraph 3 above concerning the lack of a definition for the boundary between the "sidewall portions" and the adjacent "bead portions" and "tread portion".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

7. Claims 1-5 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Oshima (5,620,538).

See col. 1 lines 5-42, col. 2 line 60 - col. 3 line 21, col. 4 lines 30-50, and col. 7 lines 11-15. It should be noted that applicants have defined the "reinforcing member" to include bead fillers as well as cord-reinforced layers (specification p. 10 lines 19-25).

Art Unit 1733

8. Claims 1-6, 9, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by British Patent Specification 1,115,834.

This reference is applied for the same reasons as set forth in Paper Number 7 paragraph 4. As to the limitation that the reinforcing members are arranged "in a tire zone including at least each of the sidewall portions", see paragraph 6 above concerning the indefinite nature of the term "sidewall portions".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

11. Claims 1-6, 9, and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over British Patent Specification 1,115,834 in view of The Story of Tire Beads and Tires.

See paragraph 9 above: a flipper "of ordinary dimensions" conventionally extends beyond the other bead components in a tire (and therefore into the "sidewall portions"), as evidenced by The Story of Tire Beads and Tires (p. 5 Figure 3 and pp. 99-100) for example. It would therefore have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to provide such conventional flipper extension in the above tire and pair of tires.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Fausti et al. (3,339,610) and Japanese Patent Applications 53-40903, 59-81207, 59-81208, and 62-71707 all anticipate or render obvious at least claim 1 but are considered to be no more pertinent at this time to the instant claims than the prior art applied by the examiner.
